

Beware Celebrities and Wealthy Crypto SCAM Artists

Edited by Mark Robinson, CLO, Zengage Learning

News Flash: The following information amplifies the need for impartial professional level education about cryptocurrency markets and investment opportunities.

We have not taken responsibility to warn the public about the massive media, celebrity, and online course providers cryptocurrency scams. But we do want to share this recent story in hopes of waking up a few.

We'll be as brief as possible. This is not a fight we can win! Just trying to help, and empower, as many as possible.

Major media outlets, including social media and YouTube, large online course factories like Coursera and Udemy, and influential celebrities like Elon Musk, Jay Z, Snoop Dogg, Kim Kardashian, Floyd Mayweather, DJ Khalid, and many more are making lots of money, NOT by investing in cryptocurrency, but by scamming millions of people with disinformation, and miseducation, exclaiming a fast road to wealth in the cryptocurrency markets.

Here are recent examples from news and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

NOTE the net worth if these celebrities involved in crypto scams in 2022: Floyd Mayweather - $460 million; Kim Kardashian - 1.8 billion; Jay Z - 1.3 billion; Snoop Dogg - $150 million; Elon Musk - $247 billion; DJ Khalid - $510 million.

So, intelligent people, ask yourselves, if an average person, with limited finances can get QUICKLY attain wealth by investing in cryptocurrency, why are these WEALTHY people committing FRAUD to attain wealth. If all of these YouTube videos, Coursera and Udemy courses, news articles, etc. are truthful about YOU getting rich in the crypto markets, would it not make sense for these RICH people to invest in crypto and NOT participate in fraudulent scams? With all of their wealth they could quickly, and easily, become crypto TRILLIONAIRES, right?

This is why Zengage Learning developed Cryptocurrency Wealth Building Series. Again, there is massive disinformation and miseducation being pushed onto the masses now. ALL of the people who lack proper education, preparation, and experience will lose their money and send it to the pockets of people who are already wealthy.

Although, a few ordinary people will win big in crypto at times. Unfortunately, it is called the Lottery Effect (This refers to people's willingness to accept extremely poor odds in return for the remote possibility of hitting the jackpot.) Some will just happen to get lucky by investing in the right coin at the right time. If you choose to forgo essential knowledge and understanding while investing in crypto, it is advisable to just play the lottery; your odds are a lot higher!

You don't have to trust luck, or lies, on hopes of benefitting from this amazing once-in-a-lifetime cryptocurrency opportunity. There is Low-Cost Real Education and Preparation available.
